

Site WebSearch

Thursday, 15th April 2010

Jarman revs up for Renault showdown

« Previous« PreviousNext »Next »

ADVERTISEMENT

Published Date:

08 April 2010

By Simon DownesHigh hopes ahead of new Championship

After a superb 2009 rookie season, city born single seater star Andrew Jarman is getting geared up for his 2010 campaign by winning the support of the city-based OMBROS Group.

Driving for his SWB Motorsport team in the Formula Renault Championship, 29-year-old Jarman last week launched his new car and sponsorship at leading rail overhaul and repair experts Railcare, based at the Wolverton works.

With his Formula Renault race car on show at the launch and representatives from OMBROS members TXM Recruit Ltd and Railcare - plus the Motorsport Industry Association's CEO Chris Aylett, Jarman spoke about his hopes for 2010.

"Firstly I'd like to say how delighted I am to be welcoming The OMBROS Group on board as my title sponsor this season.

"Already their support has been superb and I have to say a big thank you to the team at Railcare who've actually painted the car and to EFD who have supplied the graphics. If the car goes as well as it looks we're in for a great season," he said.

The start of the 12-round 2010 season takes place at Brands Hatch on April 18 - and 2009 Privateer Cup winner Jarman has high hopes.

Page 1 of 1

- Last Updated: 08 April 2010 9:55 AM